

ONE CHORD

Doug Banta

2015

I wrote this song here just for you
To play along or listen to.
I hope that you will not get bored
Because this song has just one chord.

So grab your uke and pick a key.
I went with C, but that's just me.
What makes this piece so really great?
Its signature is seven eight.

This song is weird, no if or buts.
Its strumming drone can drive you nuts.
I hope that you don't wish me dead.
This tune is now stuck in your head

Ha ha ha. (Tacet)

I know you think this thing's a mess,
But I'll call it my first success.
There's just one thing now left for me.
I think I'll write a symphony.

Cha cha cha.

Strumming pattern: D D D D D DUD for a seven beat measure.

It goes 1 2 3 4 5 6&7.

Immediately hit first beat of next measure with no pause.

The last two notes (phon-ny) are played by "pinching" the C and E strings followed by the C and A strings.
